re: Conference on Mechanisms of Immunotoxicity

Enclosed is a copy of the program of the Tenth Conference on Mechanisms of Immunotoxicity. The featured speakers have been confirmed. They are Alan J. Barrett (U.K.), Peter Cresswell (Yale) and John Monaco (Cincinnati). All are outstanding workers in their particular fields.

The conference intentionally includes distinguished speakers from related disciplines, and then mid career and early career workers in immunotoxicology. The conference intentionally maintains a balance among universities, government and industry. Attendance is limited to about 150. We have exceeded this a bit recently to accommodate individuals who have made special requests.

I hope the Council for Tobacco Research U.S.A., Inc. will join in supporting this conference financially.

Thank you for your interest in our conference.

Best wishes.

Sincerely

S. Gaylen Bradley
